Dear Coherence Industries,

Thank you for the opportunity to evaluate the effects of Coherence Technology.

I tested the electrical conductivity along each of my acupuncture meridians while sitting at my computer, first before turning it on to check my baseline stress level, and then both before and after installing the Coherence Technology software with the computer running.

I was so impressed with the immediate effects that I decided to track further changes over a period of 15 minutes. By that point there was no need to continue testing, because even one of my meridians was in perfect balance (50 on the Voll scale of 0 to 100).

This (product) actually turns a computer from an energy stressor into an energy balancer.

After seeing (and feeling) these results, I am a believer. I strongly recommend anyone working at a computer to get this (product), and I would like to make it available to our Starfire network across the country as a very important addition to our health product line.

Sincerely,

M. Swartwout, O.D.
